VOL. XXXII.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE: MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 14, 1881.

NO 64

THE SUPREME COURT MEETS IN NASHVILLE ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN DECEMBER.

FOOT PADS AGAIN.
A Citizen Robbed of Thirteen Hundred Dollars by Highwaymen.

At the stationhouse yesterday morning Mr. Charles Hawkins, formerly a barkeeper, gave information that he had been robbed the night before of $1300. His statement was that during Saturday, he received a check for that amount, the proceeds of a sale of lands in Arkansas belonging to his wife. He had the check cashed and late in the evening got on a Hernando street car and started home with it. At the curve he left the car to walk home and almost immediately afterward was assaulted by two men one of whom tried to draw a bag over his head while the other tripped him up and kicked him. He drew his knife and was sure he cut one of them, but when he finally threw them off and regained his feet, discovered his money was gone. The description he gives of one of them corresponds to that of John Miller, who came here with Coup's circus and was fined for his rather suspicious manner of leading off a drunken rustic. He has been working out his time about the stationhouse and disappeared yesterday evening. One party has been arrested on suspicion.

POLICE POINTS.

Henry Kee was sent to jail to-day for stealing a pair of boots from Wm. Patterson, a brakeman.
Ad Hix was found lying in Center alley Saturday morning dead drunk and with his face badly beaten and bruised. She was sent down for forty days.
Attorney J. S. Dural, who has been dangerously ill for some time with a complication of diseases, is convalescent.

Allen Crump, colored, borrowed a watch to wear to a wedding from his friend, W. T. Lake, and pawned it for $15.75, claiming to Lake to have been robbed of it. He goes to jail.

John Epperson, for stealing apples from a crippled fruit vender, was sent down for forty days.

Target Shooting.

A rifle match between the German and Memphis Rifle Clubs at Oatmore yesterday afternoon, resulted in a victory for the latter club by a score of 710 to 703. Mr. P. Cunningham, of the Memphis Club made 66, the highest score, and won the medal. Mr. J. G. Handwerker, of the German Club, scored 67, but as his club's total score was the lowest, gained nothing. The attendance was full, twelve of each club shooting. The highest possible individual score was 75.

Probable Change.

The annual meeting of the Memphis and Charleston Railway Directors commences at Huntsville, Alabama, to-morrow, Messrs. William Farrington and R. D. Fraser, of the board, left here last night to participate in the proceedings. It is hinted that President Baldwin and associates of the Louisville and Nashville road have secured a majority of the stock of this company and that they will outvote the present directors by installing an entire new board to-morrow. Dispatches from New York to-day quote stock at 85c and say a further advance is anticipated.

Officials in DeSoto.

Major T. C. Dockery was re-elected sheriff of DeSoto county, Mississippi, at the election last week, and the entire Democratic ticket was victorious by a large majority, so great that the opposition were thoroughly run over, and like the boy the calf run over, haven't since had a word to say. The election was exceedingly quiet and peaceable at every pole in the county, and the whole affair was conducted so fairly that the Kingites haven't so far been able to back a flaw of any character or find any fault whatever. Major Dockery was on a visit to this city yesterday.

The Difference in Prices.

A comparison of prices of articles for table supply at the present time and a year ago furnish an interesting theme. In this market the price of game is essentially the same now as then. Chickens, turkeys, butter and onions are the same. Everything else, however, is much higher. For instance, the quoted price for cured salt meats is 12c to 20c higher this fall than a year ago. Hams are 31c per lb higher; lard 31c higher; fresh $1.00 a lb 25c per bbl higher; meal $1.20 per bbl higher; corn 21c per bushel higher; oats 16 1/2c higher; bran 8c per ton higher; hay $4 per ton higher; potatoes $1.25 to $1.60 per bbl higher for Irish; and $1.50 up for sweet; cabbage 35c to 57c per hundred head higher and kraut 36c per bbl higher; dried fruit 2 to 3c per lb higher; eggs 2 to 4c per dozen higher; sugar 11c per lb and cotton, which supplies the means to pay for all the foregoing necessities, is now worth 10c per lb more than it was a year ago.

SILVER WEDDING.

The Anniversary of a Happy Married Couple

Whose Daughter Follows Their Good Example.

Twenty-five years ago yesterday Martin and Mary Cohen were married. They were some younger then than now, but could not have looked very much younger, and certainly no happier than they did last night at their silver wedding. The event was celebrated at Casino Hall, corner of Union and Second streets. Cards printed in silver letters bearing the two dates 1856-1881 had been issued to a large number of friends, two or three hundred at least, far and near. A company of over one hundred people representing the best Jewish society assembled soon after six o'clock to witness a rare and a double ceremony. Those who attended had an opportunity for once in a lifetime of witnessing a silver wedding, and at the same time the marriage of a daughter of the older and therefore principal couple. The double wedding was conducted according to the beautiful, impressive and instructive ritual of the Jewish church by Rabbi Samfield. The form observed was substantially the same in each case.

First came Mr. Martin Cohen and his wife, a very young looking couple to have already a married daughter and some good-sized grand children. Two candles, typical of Reason and Love, were before them, and the glass of wine to be broken and the ring to be worn for life. The learned and eloquent Rabbi, in addition to the ritualistic form, made a touching and appropriate address, which was listened to with the deepest interest.

This being concluded, the younger couple came forward—Miss Amelia Cohen, the daughter of the silver wedding pair, and Mr. Nathan Bach—a handsome and stylish young bride and groom. They were united with all due form and solemnity, and given a most feeling and pointed lecture upon the duties and responsibilities of actual life. No one could listen to this without learning a useful lesson, to be long remembered. This over, congratulations were in order and freely tendered. The ushers we should have mentioned in the proper order were Messrs. L. Rosenthal, D. Gensburger, J. Sternberg, M. Morris and L. Samelson. The attendants: Mr. Maurice Cohen and Miss Schwartzberg, J. Swartzberg and Miss H. Behr.

The entire company was invited to the hall above where a magnificent banquet was spread on a table so arranged as to form three sides of a square. There was the greatest abundance of everything to tempt the appetite and all spread with consummate taste. Dr. Samfield called the company to order and read a large number of congratulatory telegrams. These, perhaps seventy five in all, from friends in different cities and States. Most notable among them was one from Mr. Cohen's mother, a hearty old lady who lives at Scranton, Pa. It was as follows: "SCRANTON, PA., Nov. 13, 1881. To Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cohen, Casino Hall: May you live to celebrate the silver wedding of your children. From Mother."

Here is another to Mr. Bach: "NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12, 1881. Mr. Nathan Bach: Love's sweetest dreams realize themselves to you to-day. May forever henceforth you be as happy as now, are the wishes and prayers of your faithful friend. I regret that I cannot be at your wedding, but hope to be at your silver wedding. LOUIS HERZOG."

A very beautiful letter was read from Jacob Bach, of Tiffin, Ohio, a brother of the groom. It does honor to the heart of the writer and is only omitted on account of its length. After the reading of many telegrams and letters the rest were filed away for future reference and the banquet proceeded.

The best of wines flowed freely and a spirit of joy and friendship seemed to inspire every heart. A number of toasts to both married couples were proposed and responded to. Mr. Cohen made a good, sensible talk on his own behalf and for his fair, handsome wife by his side. He said that what mistakes he had made in life were of the head and not of the heart. A humorous friend suggested that he meant the price of hats (being a hat merchant) instead of heads. Dr. W. made a happy speech. Mr. C. G. Locke, of the LEDGER, responded to a toast to the press in appropriate terms, although he may modestly deny it when he reads about it. And so on. There was enough said, but not too much. It was in good feeling and taste, all felt that it was a pleasure and a privilege to be there—an occasion to be cherished in memory as one of the bright spots in the pilgrimage of life.

Soon after ten o'clock the company rose, the tables were cleared, music started up and dancing commenced. The young people and they were all young apparently, remained until quite a late hour. The lights were never turned down on a hall at the wee sma's hours where there had been more real enjoyment in an evening.

THE COLORED TROOP.

To Meet in Peace and Fraternal Order Here To-morrow.

The annual convention of the National Guards of the colored militia forces of the United States will meet here to-morrow.

It is expected that Major James Glass will call the convention to order at the Greenlaw Opera-house sometime during the forenoon. There is every indication that the gallant soldiers will have a harmonious and interesting session.

BY CABLE.

LONDON, November 14.—Count Kaloky, Austrian Ambassador to Russia, has been suddenly recalled. No doubt this is closely connected with the appointment of a successor to the late Baron Von Haymerle, Austrian Premier.

The experience of extensive land agents is that rents are being paid in Sligo, Roscommon, parts of Galway, Limerick, Queen's county and Kerry, parts of Cork and other counties there is a general determination not to pay. The Kilken tenants of the Earl of Cork repudiate and condemn the recent outrages on the estate.

The government contemplates a fourth temporary sub-commission under the Land Act.

The Post, referring to the status and previous occupation of some of the assistant commissioners for fixing a fair rent under the Land Act, says: "A member of Parliament when Parliament meets will move for a select committee to inquire into the antecedents and qualifications."

Pierre Paulsen, Archbishop of Besancon, is dead.
